The 2010 National Writers' Empowerment Online Conference will be held on Saturday, June 26 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. This year's conference will include authors Eugene and Jewel Williams, Tonya Jones, Renee Bobb, Dwayne Clemmons and author's assistant Yvonne Wu. Each presenter will provide valuable information on how any inspiring writer can become successful in the publishing profession. Workshops included in this year's conference are: Getting Organized to Write a Book, Overcoming Life Obstacles and Writing Your Book, Understanding Your Publishing Options, The Nuts and Bolts of Editing, [Self Publish: Understanding the Step by Step Publishing Process, Unleashing the Freelance Writer Within, The Ins and Outs of Publishing a \[Children's Book\]\(#\), How to Market and Sell Your Books to \[Bookstores\]\(#\), How to Publish Your Book of Poetry, Strategic Book Placement in the Market Place and How to Go From Published Author to Motivational Speakers.](#) Conference participants will have an opportunity to sharpen their writing skills in sessions led by experienced authors, editors, and publishers. The event will also give aspirants an opportunity to advertise their writings and works.

Panelists will also share a few of their personal experiences and how these experiences became motivation in creating their published works. Author Tonya Jones wrote her first book, One Woman's Journey to Fully Trust God, when she was going through the process in rebuilding her relationship with God. Jones' second book, God Said Trust Me, was a testament of dealing with her spouse's death in 2006. In both publications, Jones gives an account of how she was able to deal with these circumstances and how she embarked on a journey of personal growth and healing. While creating her second book, Jones noted "I went deep into my emotions, the Lord's Word and how God was with me the entire time and had orchestrated some things to help me with my inner emotions and feelings. "

Authors and consultants Eugene and Jewel Williams will provide their expertise of the self publishing process. Their new workbook titled Self Publishing 101: Preparing Publishing, and Marketing Your Masterpiece, will serve as an resource in providing information to those that want to self publish their own publications and how writers can maintain complete creative control of their publishing process. Mr. and Ms. Williams will give participants details on the advantages and disadvantages of the self publishing profession and information on the wide variety of print on demand companies that are available to aspiring writers. The husband and wife team will also discuss how writers can use modern technology as a marketing tool. "There is a new generation of technologically savvy writers who have chosen to educate themselves about the modern publishing process through webinars, skypeing, teleconferencing and tele-seminars " said Eugene, " These new authors want to learn from the tragedies and triumphs of those that have gone before them." The Williams have a total of 26 years experience in public education. They are also the owners of Wiseeducators, a company geared in providing educational workshops, seminars, and motivational speakers to various organizations and civic groups. The Williams use their company to show people how education is a means of enhancing the quality of life.

Author Assistant, Yvonne Wu, will provide participants with information on the services she provides as a Certified Virtual Author Assistant. The step-by-step process includes public relations, marketing, coordinating live and virtual book tours, printing and publication distribution and consultation. Yvonne is also the owner of The YP Publishing. Ms. Wu has several published articles and is currently hosting a monthly podcast entitled The Cappuccino Breeze Monthly Tips. Yvonne's expectation from this year's conference is to "connect with the audience and share expertise."

Dwayne Clemmons is another familiar face to this year's conference. Last year, Clemmons' conference topics were Repentance and Forgiveness, How Can I Make It Real, and Replace Fear with Faith. He is an internationally published writer and author of three books, Exploits, Jesus Rides in an Ambulance! Utterances from the Throne Room! And DWJD (Do What Jesus Did). He also writes a bi-monthly column, The Encourager, for the chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Firefighters International. Mr. Clemmons has vast experience in the fields of graphic design and business consulting. He is also a highly sought after motivational and inspirational speaker. Participants will be able to gain knowledge of Clemmons' experience as a writer and be able to apply to the same techniques to their own writing capabilities.

The National Writers' Empowerment Conference was founded by writer and self publisher, Renee Bobb. Ms. Bobb is the first African American female to host a conference for aspiring writers and publishers on the internet. Bobb is the owner of Renee Bobb Media, which provides aspiring entrepreneurs with resources and information on the self publishing and writing process. Her works include Start Smart: The Women Entrepreneur Guide and The Self-Publishing Process: The Beginners Guide to Book Publishing Success. Over the past five years, the conference has grown to over 685 event participants.

This year's conference will be held online and via teleconference. The fee for registration is $45, all workshops and materials are included in this fee.
